Preventing Violence Happens at Three Levels

Primary

Stopping Violence Before It Occurs
Strategies like healthy relationships & environments reduce risks & increase buffers.

Secondary

Immediate Responses to Violence
Services like emergency and medical care address short-term consequences.

Tertiary

Long-Term Responses to Violence
Approaches in aftermath address trauma & rehabilitate perpetrators.

Our goal is to stop violence before it occurs.

What is Primary Prevention?

MOVING UPSTREAM

Prevention Continuum

PRIMARY

Before violence or behavior occurs; work on changing attitudes and norms that support it

SECONDARY

Intervene to prevent violence from happening again; deal with short-term consequences

TERTIARY

Treat after violence occurs; support victims to heal; provide treatment to offenders

Primary prevention does not replace intervention, it compliments it.
